Abstract: this in the article modern in society children between being observed alcoholism and addiction cases social pedagogical problem as analysis will be made in the article this negative of circumstances come exit factors, social environment and pedagogical effects with dependency scientific basically also, deviant behavior formation in the process pedagogical tasks, preventive measures and family of upbringing place about practical recommendations presented article youth upbringing with worker social educators, psychologists and teachers for useful source be takes.

Key words: child, alcoholism, drug addiction, deviant behavior, social pedagogy, family education, prevention work, pedagogical influence, age generation, health.

Current in the period in society happened happening changes, globalization, information of the flow acceleration, youth to the mind various in the direction of effects increase as a result children and teenagers between various negative diseases, including alcoholism and addiction surrender cases increasingly increasing These situations are not only their health, maybe spiritual status, spiritual maturation, socialization and future life serious about the direction negative impact shows.

Children between flying alcohol and addiction cases today's on the day only medical problem not, maybe social and pedagogical problem It is also being studied as. Because this problem child personality development, upbringing, and the environment people with in relation to and in society to the activity directly impact Alcoholic drinks and narcotic substances consumption to do early at the age of beginning child's thought, decision acceptance to do ability, moral criteria negative impact shows and him/her with deviant behavior person as shapes. Social pedagogy science main from the goals one is that the person negative social from events protection to do, healthy marriage in style redirect and negative from the effects warning through positive to develop Therefore, in children alcoholism and addiction the problem deep study, their come exit the reasons to identify them eliminate to reach directed effective preventive measures working exit current from issues one is considered.

This in the article children and teenagers between wide scattered going alcoholism and addiction cases social pedagogical problem as analysis Also, deviant behavior formation psychological and pedagogical the basics, its prevent to take according to social pedagogical approaches seeing is released.

Children and teenagers between alcoholism and addiction surrender cases not only medical, maybe deep socio-pedagogical problem as This is under consideration. negative situations society future was young generation health, spiritual maturity, socialization and every one-sided to the formation directly impact shows. In this child's physical and psychic development stages into account without being taken, early at the age of harmful to habits attraction to be his/her whole life during certain trail leaves.

Alcoholism and addiction children between to spread take incoming reasons many edged and is complicated. Usually this process family from the environment begins. Parents indifference, wrong upbringing styles, family problems, conflicts, solidarity shortage the child social in the environment himself to feel lonely reason will be. Like this in cases where the child's peers under the influence harmful to habits to be given possible. From this outside, internet, social networks and public information in the means such of vices supposedly as a " fashion " promote to be in children wrong imagination wakes up.

Pedagogical point of view from the point of view than the child's personality in the formation school environment and in it pedagogical impact solution doer importance has. School this regarding only education place become not, maybe upbringing giver institution also act as to do necessary. Social educators exactly this in process important role They play. not only control, maybe psychological help, educational approach, social help show through in the child social immunity to form contribution they are addicted.

Drug addiction and alcoholism deviant behavior shape as study this of the problem social roots deeper analysis to do opportunity Deviant behavior is society to the rules contrary was, general moral, legal or social from the standards deviation Alcohol and drug addict from substances use exactly mother so deviation status become a child from society separate This is them crime, offense, aggression, self to the soul intention to do such as further to dangerous deviant forms take progress possible.

This point of view in terms of social pedagogical approaches important importance profession These approaches the following own inside takes:

1. Preventive events system is previously detection, warning and prevent to take aimed at activity. In schools regular accordingly healthy marriage style, harmful of habits consequences about lectures, role-playing games, discussions organization to be need.
2. Early determination and psychological-pedagogical rehabilitation – risk to the group incoming the children early identify them from society without excluding, but rather working with it individually, internally problems solution to do support to give necessary.
3. Parents with work – many in child rearing cases disadvantages in the family problems with related It will be. That's why for social educators and school psychologists parents with systematic work take they go Seminars, trainings, talks and tips through their responsibility increase important.

4. Empty time meaningful organization to raise – children and teenagers empty in times useful activity if not busy with, negative to the effects inclined become Therefore, they are considered to be the best in sports, arts, culture, science and technique in the directions to the circles attraction to grow very important.

5. Local and state level collaboration – schools, neighborhood, health storage institutions, law and order organs and NGOs between coordinated work take to go this problem prevent in receiving strong social network to create service does.

Foreign experiments this shows that children between harmful to habits against in the fight state at the level complex programs, for example, " Healthy generation for ", " Harmful without habits like "school " national concepts important role plays. Uzbekistan even in such conditions programs current made although, their in practice execution reinforcement, fog and village to the level of effective to deliver demand is being done.

Conclusion instead of this let's say It happens that children alcoholism and drug addiction, in society the most heavy social pedagogical from problems one These problems are the problems of young people. psychological, physical and social to develop negative impact showing deviant behavior to the formation take Alcohol and narcotic substances with related problems, children and teenagers social from life separate to put them, their future successful to life obstacle does. Social pedagogy this problems solution in doing central role plays because his/her main purpose the youth healthy, spiritual, and social in terms of adapted individuals as Pedagogical approaches, prevention measures, education in institutions social help and psychological support systems, children and teenagers alcoholism and from addiction protection in doing important importance has. In general alcoholism and addiction against in the fight social pedagogical approaches, society all members, this including parents, teachers and state of the organs joint movements demand does. So so, this problems effective solution to do for complex approach and social cooperation necessary.
